Making local SEO clients successful at scale

In 2012, Coalmarch Productions had one inbound marketing specialist on their team. As a small agency, they needed to use their limited resources efficiently to make their local clients successful at scale.

For Laura Simis, Associate Director of Organic Strategy at Coalmarch, having a single reliable SEO tool is non-negotiable. A tool that scales with her business's growth and streamlines the work for her team is integral to the way Coalmarch functions and helps its clients.

Moz Pro is her tool of choice.

Tracking and reporting features make it easy to keep tabs on client and competitor performance

Moz Pro enables Laura and her team to see how customers are searching for their clients' services, measure search visibility against direct competitors, and track page performance.

Laura also makes prolific use of Link Explorer, which allows her to analyze competitor links, identify link opportunities, and track her link building progress. Coalmarch uses this information to keep their clients competitive in highly localized markets.

Increased traffic, improved link quality, and overall cost savings

Coalmarch uses Moz Pro to report on their clients' top 10 keywords and make strategic shifts based on trends. In just four months, they boosted organic traffic across the board by an average of 15% and improved their clients' average keyword ranking by four positions.

Coalmarch's flagship sister company, Triangle Pest, boosted their search visibility by 150% since 2012 and continues to grow their site traffic by an average of 2,800 users every month.

Link Explorer has helped Laura and her team reduce the time it takes to acquire new links by 46%, and increase the average Domain Authority of newly acquired links to a score of 60. Coalmarch has also saved an estimated $8,000 in 2018 alone by canceling subscriptions to redundant link building software.

Best of all, Moz Pro gives Laura and her team all the data and flexibility they need to continue ensuring client success. Moz Pro has been Coalmarch's SEO tool of choice since 2012, and it is the only tool that continues to meet her agency's needs year after year.

"Time and budget are two challenges every agency faces—there's never enough to go around. Being able to rely on a tool that made task execution faster and scalable was crucial."
